EXT. OUTSIDE SHEPARD HALL - DAY

ANDY, an 18-year-old, waits outside Shepard Hall, which is adorning a banner reading "WELCOME NORTHWESTERN PARENTS!"

DYLAN, also 18, jogs over to greet him. Andy smiles.

ANDY
Dylan, hey!

The two engage in a friendly bro-hug.

ANDY (CONT'D)
Ah, what's up?

DYLAN
Nothing much. Your parents here yet?

ANDY
No, no. Yours?

DYLAN
Ah, I dunno... uh, when are they getting here?

Dylan looks around. Andy looks at him peculiarly.

ANDY
I don't know, man.

Dylan nods and places a hand on Andy's shoulder.

DYLAN
(wincing)
How's your mom doing?

ANDY
...What do you mean?

DYLAN
The divorce? Too soon?

ANDY
Wait, wait, what? How do you know about that?

DYLAN
Facebook, dude. Shauna changed her relationship status, like, yesterday.

Andy stares at him. Dylan grins.

ANDY
You're Facebook friends with my mom?

DYLAN
Yeah, ha, we were messaging yesterday. She really needs someone in her corner right now.

Dylan gives Andy a meaningful look.

ANDY
Someone in her- wait, what are you--

DYLAN
Companionship is important, y'know?

Andy takes an uncomfortable step back, looking around.

DYLAN (CONT'D)
...And Shauna actually invited me to join you two for dinner tonight. I was thinking French? I know she loves--

Andy recoils in horror and disgust.

ANDY
Ugh! No. No! Dylan--

He's cut off by a voice off-screen. Dylan and Andy both turn.

SHAUNA/ANDY'S MOM (O.S.)
Honey! I finished- oh, Dylan!

Dylan rubs his hands together suggestively.

DYLAN
And there she is.

Dylan pats him on the back and jogs past him.

Andy turn and watches him go, horrified. He stands alone, shell shocked.

ANDY
...Motherfu--

END.
